JOB EXPERIENCE

LG Electronics, Greater Noida

- Computer Operator at LG Electronics. My core work at LG was to dispatch Products by generating Pin No. of different parts, Making List of all the parts and the products before dispatching them and to make sure that the things are kept at their place safely. I was also responsible for storing the materials that used for assembling of products. I needed to report my store head every day after completion of my work. I also used to check the working condition of the products that if they are working well or not and if they are not working well then I needed to make list of them for returning them to warehouse.
